

SUPERHERO BLUES!

Lyrics by Neil Bennison

When I wake up each morning, and the night time's been and gone
The sun has hardly risen but I'll put on my jet boots on,
Grab my supersuit and flight cape from the chair beside the bed
I've got all I need for action but there's a thought inside my head

I've got the superhero blues
Getting tired of making news
I've got the superhero blues
Oh yeah!

Every day's a new adventure, serving folks across the globe
I'm the one that's quick to answer when it looks like there's no hope
If a building is collapsing or a boat's about to sink
It's me who flies in faster than an eagle's eye could blink

I've got the superhero blues
Getting tired of making news
I've got the superhero blues
Oh yeah!

Because I'm always there to stop the bad guys' cunning plans
To halt their heists and hi-jacks, never let them take their chance
I'm the champion of the world, the one whose selfie's always asked
But no-one knows the real me, as I can't take off my mask.

I've got the superhero blues,
Getting tired of making news
I've got the superhero blues
Oh yeah!

But back home in my hideout things don't really look so bad
Another day of hero work's enough to make me glad

That I'm strong enough to lift a train and keep the people free
And my laser eyes are pretty good for warming up my tea

I had the superhero's blues
But now it's really cool
In this superhero's view
Oh yeah!
